Father Yodynsus's injuries, according to his servant, densist of a black eye, two bruses on his head and face, and a sail dozen contusions and abrasions on the body. He is wrapped in bandages and allence.

List Stanishaus Rasemir, one of Father Todystus's parishoners and neighbors, threw some light on the mysterious a-sault this morning. He said that Father Yodynsus celled on one of his female parishoners in Greenpoint after midnight of Monday, and that her tather and brother, suspecting that a roober had got into the house, attacked the intruder with cities and best him until ned tropped, as if life-less, to the floor. Then they dragged him out into the street and left him lying on the side-walk.

As mittance to the house was likewise refused to all others. Even Bianop Loughlin and Father Carroll, of St. Vincent de Paul's Church, were not permitted to see the injured mass. It was rumpered that the Bishop would suspend Father Yudyssus from his priestly functions, but he refused to affirm or deny this to-day.

It is known, however, that Bishop Loughlin is making as investigation, as this is the second serape, lately, in both of which, by a strange coincidence, a woman was concerned, that Father Yodyssus has gotten into.

About aix weeks ago the priest was arrested for according at a man named Dingins, who had come to his house to see what had become of his wise, whom, he alleged, the priest was dropped, but the civil suit for damages against Father Yodysyus for altentisting the affections of Mrs. Dingins from her ausband is still pending.
